

BURIED UNDER BRICK WALL

TOOK TEN MINUTES TO DIG WALL AWAY TO REACH MAN.

George Strausbaugh, New Oxford, fatally injured at Alwine Brick Yards—Fairfield Merchant Dead.

Friday morning of last week about 11:20 o'clock, George Strausbaugh, of New Oxford, was fatally injured by the falling of a portion of an old kiln wall at the Alwine Brothers brick yards at Berlin Junction. Mr. Strausbaugh was engaged in tearing down the wall, assisted by Percy Alwine and John Carbaugh. They were undermining it, when Mr. Carbaugh looking up, found the wall was tilting and warned his fellows by calling to them. Mr. Alwine and Mr. Carbaugh fortunately reached a place of safety, but Mr. Strausbaugh seemingly ran toward the wall, to be covered by the bricks which fell in a mass, completely burying him. His companions rushed to his aid and with other men they cleared the debris, but it was ten minutes before he was able to be lifted out. Dr. George Seaks, of New Oxford, soon arrived and did all in his power to relieve the unfortunate man, who was seemingly injured internally. His head, face and arms were badly bruised and cut, and breathing was very difficult. While receiving attention he is said to have exclaimed: "I'm going to die—something is too badly hurt in here," pointing to his abdomen. The wall was ten feet high and tremendously heavy. He was removed to the Annie M. Warner Hospital and died Friday night. He was aged 46 years, 10 months and 22 days. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Emma Staub, a son Joseph at home, and two daughters, Mrs. John Moore, of near New Oxford, and Mrs. Raymond Redding, of near Gettysburg. He is also survived by two brothers and five sisters: Joseph Strausbaugh, of near Berlin Junction; Francis Strausbaugh, of Menges Mills; Mrs. Susan Wintrobe, Misses Anna and Veronica Strausbaugh, of Hanover; Mrs. Augustus McMaster of Spring Grove, and Mrs. Robert Favorite, of near Abbotstown. Funeral was held from the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, New Oxford, on Tuesday morning following a requiem mass by Rev. J. B. Shanahan, with interment in the Catholic Cemetery, New Oxford.

Samuel Enoch Hoover died Tuesday morning at his home in New Oxford, after an illness of several months aged 68 years and 5 days. He was a son of the late Daniel and Catherine Hoover. On December 8, 1878, he was married to Miss Joanna Gable, who survives him with three children: Dr. Harvey Daniel Hoover, dean of Carthage College, Carthage, Ill.; Mrs. Edward H. Diehl, of Texas, and Miss Mary Grace Hoover, at home. He is also survived by an adopted niece, Miss Annie L. Myers, Gise, near Abbotstown, and Mrs. Emma Gable, of New Oxford. Funeral was on Wednesday morning, services by Rev. J. W. Keener, of the Reformed Church, New Oxford, and interment in the New Oxford Cemetery.

Aaron Musselman, for many years a merchant in Fairfield, died Jan. 6 at his home two miles south of that place, aged 74 years, 5 months and 13 days. Mr. Musselman had been in failing health for the last five years. He conducted a general store in Fairfield for 25 years but has lived retired for some time. He is survived by two sons, Clyde Musselman, at home and Ray Musselman, of Baltimore; a daughter, Mrs. Edna Reindollar, of Fairfield, and a sister, Mrs. Evannah Artzberger, of York.

Abraham Shanabrook, who made his home with his son, John Shanabrook, at New Chester, died Monday aged 91 years, 5 months and 19 days. Surviving him are two children: Mrs. Charles Gulden, of Midway, Hanover, and John Shanabrook with whom he resided. Funeral was on Thursday with services in St. Luke's Church, New Chester, by Rev. L. Stauffer, and interment in St. Luke's Cemetery.

Mrs. Catherine L. Smith, widow of the late Thaddeus A. Smith, of McSherrystown, died Thursday aged 78 years, 1 month and 3 days. She was a daughter of the late Michael and Julia R. Overbaugh. Surviving her are three children: Mrs. James Lawrence of Hanover; Mrs. Frank Martin, of McSherrystown, and Mrs. Felix Staub, with whom she resided; five sisters, Misses Sarah Joanna, Josephine, and Louisa Overbaugh, of McSherrystown, and two brothers, Lewis Overbaugh and Jerome Overbaugh, of McSherrystown. Funeral from St. Mary's Church, McSherrystown, last Saturday morning following a requiem mass by Rev. Dr. L. Aug. Reutter, with interment at Conewago Chapel.

Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips, widow of the late Michael Phillips, died Tuesday noon at the home of her son, David Phillips, near East Berlin, aged 81 years, 4 months and 27 days, and is survived by four sons, Allen Phillips, of York; Frank Phillips, of Five Points, Adams Co.; David Phillips,

ARRESTED FOR TWO OFFENSES.

Young Man Suffering Mental Disturbance Gets into Trouble.

Complaint has recently been made as to the conduct on the part of Norbert C. McSherry, a young man under thirty years of age, who up to January 1 had been employed in one of the banks of Gettysburg, and the charges suggest mental disturbance. On a recent Sunday, as it is alleged, McSherry stopped in the Shrewsbury square to get ten gallons of gasoline and a gallon of oil from Frank Sechrist, a dealer. Mr. Sechrist placed the material in McSherry's car, and when McSherry wanted to pay him for it, he gave him a check which Sechrist refused to take in payment, on account of him being a stranger. Mr. McSherry then proceeded to get in his car and drive away, but the car suddenly stopped, Mr. Sechrist having turned off the gasoline at the tank. McSherry then came back claiming he only had 13 cents in cash and started a row with Sechrist, who went to the office of Justice Storms and swore out a warrant. According to Constable Diehl, McSherry resisted him and next morning the constable swore out a charge against him for resisting an officer before Alderman Owen, of York. Leaving York Young McSherry went last Friday to Hanover and it is alleged that he tried to have a check for $500, supposed to be issued by a relative, cashed at the People's Bank, Hanover Trust Company, the First National Bank, and was told he would have to be identified. Finally he turned up at the Hanover Savings Fund with the check and with an identification memorandum signed by Paul Britcher, who denied signing the identification and McSherry was again arrested and taken before Squire Sell, and upon examination, it is said, made a number of contradictory statements, such as maintaining at first that he had thrown check away when it was found in his coat pocket, and claiming at one time the check was all right and then after declaring he had spent the previous ten days in York, finally admitting the check had not been signed by relative.

Enthusiastic Red Cross Conference.

The Red Cross Home Service Committee and the Executive Committee met with Miss Kathryn Farra, field worker of the American Red Cross, on Thursday afternoon and there was a full attendance of both committees. Miss Farra expressed herself delighted with the enthusiasm of the committees of the Adams County Red Cross, which in the past year had made the highest percentage of work of all the counties in the state in the assistance to World War veterans.

The subject of the conference was the future of the Red Cross in Adams due to the decreased membership from the November drive. The membership is less than 1000 and almost a half of this must be sent to the national headquarters and the highly efficient work of the Red Cross in this county for the veterans and crippled children is facing an end in the near future unless increased support is given the Red Cross. Among the matters determined upon was an auditing of the Red Cross Home Service finances and a statement of the same to the county membership. Wm. E. Miller and D. C. Stallsmith have been appointed auditors for the purpose.

The Home Service Committee resolved itself into a finance committee for the formulation of plans for the support of the Red Cross for the continuation of the work and they expect to go ahead with the plans at once.

Examination for Parochial Schools.

Through the co-operation of those in charge of five parochial schools in Adams county with representatives of the State Department of Health, more than eight hundred children will be given medical examinations during the next few weeks.

According to the laws of the state pupils in the public schools are required to be examined once each year and a report on every child sent to the State Department of Health. The same plan has been adopted by each of the Catholic schools in the county except one.

Physicians have been secured by the schools to make the examinations as follows: Dr. A. C. Rice will visit the McSherrystown schools, Dr. Geo. Seaks the schools at New Oxford and Bonneauville; Dr. R. S. Lindama the schools in Littlestown, and Dr. C. G. Crist those in Gettysburg.

Do You Want to Help?

The Citizens' Band of Gettysburg has very generously offered to give a concert at Mt. Alto Sanitarium for the entertainment of the sick soldiers there on Sunday afternoon, January 22. This concert depends, however, on the question of transportation. There are thirty-five men in the band and the local Red Cross states that those who will be good enough to lend their automobiles to make the trip possible, should hand in their names at the Red Cross office in the Court House.

DEATHS.

ber her condition became serious. She was 22 years old. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Abel, of Chambersburg street, and leaves the following brothers and sisters: Charles, James William, Mary, Ruth and Dorothy. Funeral was held on Tuesday morning.

W. T. Sherman Sites, of Liberty township, died at his home last Saturday from a lingering illness of cancer, aged 57 years and 16 days. He leaves a wife and aged father, George F. Sites, also of Liberty township. The following sons survived: J. Harvey Sites, of Chicago; George P. Sites, of Wamsocet, S. D.; J. Sherman Sites, of McKnightstown; R. Milton Sites, of Fairfield, and Lawrence A. Sites, at home. The following brothers and sisters also survive: Mrs. Milton Hull, of Gettysburg; John H., of Mayfield, Okla.; Ebenezer, of Gettysburg; Mrs. James Hoffman, of Fairfield; G. Armor, of Clear Springs; Mrs. Lawrence Baltzley, of Wamsocet, S. D.; and Stewart W., of Fairfield. The following half-brothers and sisters: Charles A., of Pittsburg; Edna, of Arenzville, of Missouri; Mrs. Hardman, of Emmitsburg; Lloyd S., of Arenzville; Mackley A., and Donald M., of Fairfield, and Mrs. Helox, of Wisconsin. Funeral services were on Wednesday in the Reformed Church, Fairfield, by Rev. Walter Pugh, and interment in Fairfield Union Cemetery.

Samuel D. Reck's death which was briefly noted last week, occurring at his home on Baltimore street on Friday night, was the passing of a good man and neighbor, and a devoted father. He had a quiet disposition, always ready to be helpful and do a neighborly act. He was born in Mt. Joy township, near junction of Marsh and Rock Creeks and his farm became a camping ground for many summer campers who appreciated his kindness and neighborliness year after year. His life was one that held the respect of all who knew him. He served his country in the Civil War, during an enlistment of ten months and was engaged in a number of skirmishes around Norfolk. He served his township as assessor, tax collector and school director and the things that concerned the welfare of his community always received his support. The funeral service was held on Monday afternoon by Rev. A. E. Wagner, his pastor, who spoke in highest terms of the good life of Mr. Reck. He had been a member of the Lutheran Church since early life, for many years at Mt. Joy Church, and after moving to town at Christ Lutheran Church. Interment was made in the Evergreen Cemetery. He was married in 1855 to Miss Katherine H. Allison, who lived to celebrate her sixtieth wedding anniversary, dying in the following year. He leaves one son, William Reck, of Harney, Md., and two daughters, Miss Anna M. Reck, at home, and Mrs. Daniel V. Reaver, of Mt. Joy township.

Game Killed in Pa. by Hunters.

According to official information already at hand there were 436 deer killed in 1921. Of these 638 were bucks, 795 two points to one antler, 1247 three points to one antler and 2156 four points to one antler and larger. The estimated weight of each was 130 pounds, with a total weight of 698,680 pounds. There were 510 bears shot at an estimated weight of 210 pounds each, 3,600,000 rabbits, 300,000 squirrels, 34,200 raccoons, 4654 wild turkeys, 325,000 ruffed grouse, 15,400 ring-neck pheasants, 49,885 Virginia quail, 500 Hungarian quail or partridge, 32,250 woodcock, 40,780 wild waterfowl. The foregoing does not include 22,000 shore birds of various kinds nor 254,000 blackbirds reported killed. And regrettably, it may be added that there were sixty-eight male fawns and 213 doe deer illegally killed. The total weight of wild game and fowl killed in the State during the year will aggregate 9,496,757 pounds, or 4748 tons of food. There were 462,374 licenses granted to residents and 1763 to non-residents.

Irish Free State.

By agreement reached by Irish and British delegates at the conference in London on Dec. 6 and ratified by the British Parliament, and by the Irish Dail on Jan. 7, by vote of 64 to 57, the Irish Free State has come into existence with a parliament of its own, having powers to make laws for peace and order and good government in Ireland.

Portraits of Well Known Justices.

On Tuesday, Jan. 3rd, 1922, upon the meeting of the Supreme Court in Philadelphia, the portraits of Hon. J. Hay Brown, former chief justice, who retired on Jan. 1st, 1921, and Justice John Stewart, deceased, were presented to the court in the supreme court room.

Both portraits are by the well known artist, Mr. Leopold Seyffert. The portrait of the former Chief Justice Brown, was the gift of the Philadelphia Bar Association, and the portrait of Justice Stewart was the gift of his daughter, Miss Janet Holmes Stewart.

Get Disease-Free Potato Seed.

The fact that in every Pennsylvania county where disease-free potato seed was planted last season, orders for next year's planting have increased from two to thirty times as much, is in itself an indication that the good seed movement inaugurated by the Farm Bureau and the Pennsylvania State College is a "winner." Orders for good seed are pouring in on almost every county agent in the State, and it will be a big problem to secure the desired kind of seed.

Of the many Farm Bureaus that co-operated in staging good seed demonstrations last season, results have been obtained from twelve that show remarkably good increases in yield, according to County Agent S. B. Shenk.

In fields ranging from five to fifty acres, the average yield from selected disease-free seed in twelve counties was 2331 bushels per acre, which is an average increase of 965 bushels per acre over the home grown seed or 693 per cent. The returns from other counties will reduce this figure to some extent, but there is every indication that the records will be better than those of 1920, when the average increase was 66 bushels per acre for this State.

Twenty-three carloads of Michigan seed have already been placed in Pennsylvania counties, as have three carloads from Maine and three from Potter county fields.

Adams county farmers who want some disease-free potato seed this spring, should get in touch with the Farm Bureau office at once. All orders should be sent in to this office by the first of February.

Interesting Features About County.

When the assessors of the county and county commissioners were at the end of their labors, the result was a total assessment of about $77,750,000, and a little more than $600,000 higher than last year. This included the real estate, cattle, horses and occupation. Moneys at interest is not included in this total, and reached the sum of five and one half millions, about a half million short of last year. The effort in making the assessment was to reach a sixty per cent. valuation.

On the third page will be found several columns of a most interesting story of figures, the result of the census agricultural enumerations in 1920 and as the farmers report the value of their real estate and holdings. They say the total worth is over thirty million and in that total is excluded the value of real estate holdings in borough except for the few farms to be found in each borough. Adding the assessed valuation of all land in boroughs to the amount the farmers declare their land is worth, or if the value should be what the owners estimate their land at, the grand total would likely run close to forty million dollars.

HUNTINGTON TOWNSHIP.

Norval Foulk and Misses Annie and Alice Foulk entertained with honor recently the following: Their nephew Lieut. Percy S. Eichelberger from Amityville, L. I. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Quigley, Miss Marion Seifert and Clyde Eichelberger from Camp Hill, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. John E. Eichelberger and daughter Gladys from Lisburne, Pa., also Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Eichelberger and daughter Dorris, Mrs. Wm. Rife from Lewisberry, Pa., Benjamin W. Eichelberger was also one of the guests. Lieut. Percy Eichelberger returned to Amityville, L. I., last week after spending his vacation with his uncle, Norval Foulk, and his aunts, Misses Annie and Alice Foulk.

The revival services are still in progress at Flint Ridge Chapel under the control of Rev. Frey. WOMAN'S LEAGUE SEEKS CHARTER.

An application for the incorporation of the Woman's League of Gettysburg College was presented to the Adams county court at its session on Monday, January 2. The Woman's League with its headquarters here is composed of sixteen branch leagues in Pennsylvania and Maryland. The purpose of all branches is the promotion of the interests of the college and each year representatives meet here in their annual convention.

Many women are now holding offices in the government at Washington from chiefs of bureaus down to typists. Above are some of the leaders: (1) Miss Grace Abbott, Chief of Children's Bureau; (2) Miss M. Anderson, Chief of Women's Bureau, Labor Department; (3) Mrs. Walbridge, assistant attorney general; (4) Miss Helen Gardener, Chief, Civil Service Commission; (5) Miss L. B. Parsons, Social Hygiene Board.

According to the application, the name of the new organization will be the Woman's General League of Gettysburg College and its purpose is to promote the interest of the college in every way. The League already has aided Gettysburg College by securing the funds necessary for the erection of the Y. M. C. A. building now in course of construction. It has also given funds for sending men to the Eaglesmere conference of the Y. M. C. A. each fall and has secured funds for many enterprises at the institution.

The women who signed the application state that they wish a perpetual charter and set forth that the place of doing business will be Gettysburg. In matters of this nature, the court usually gives the charter for a period of 99 years and at the expiration of that time gives the directors the privilege of having it renewed.

The names of the subscribers are all Gettysburg women interested in the college. They are Ida J. Granville, Laura B. Burgoon, Harriet E. Sanders, Lillie Stahley, Mary E. Roth, Lillie McClean, E. Kate Gilbert, Julia Alleman, Adelaide Stover and Lillie Dougherty.

Sixteen directors have been chosen by the women for the new corporation one being selected from each branch organization of the league. Their names are also included in the application. Following is the list of directors: Mrs. W. A. Hanson and Mrs. J. F. Dapp, of Harrisburg; Mrs. J. E. Beyers, of Baltimore; Mrs. A. B. Hoover, of Waynesboro; Mrs. Henry Anstadt, of Chambersburg; Mrs. C. P. Anstadt, of York; Mrs. G. N. Lauffer, of Altoona; Mrs. R. S. Bowers, of Shippensburg; Mrs. S. D. Shull, of Chambersburg; Miss Maria Baum, of Philadelphia; Mrs. J. T. Huddle, of Huntingdon; Mrs. Boag, of Johnstown; Mrs. L. E. Kurch, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. J. I. Burgoon, and Mrs. C. F. Sanders, of Gettysburg.

No capital stock will be issued and membership will be prescribed by the by-laws of the organization subject to the provisions of State and Federal Constitutions.

BEE-WARE.

Hundreds of our state laws are un-American and breed contempt for laws. They are ill-begotten, and are proving themselves the handmaid of tyranny.

To the Editor: Now our lawmakers have discovered "Bee Disease." They call these diseases, foul brood, sac brood, bee paralysis, or any other condition of eggs, larvae, pupal, or adult stages of the honey bee. For 70 years we have been a resident of Marsh Creek and no person in all these years ever dreamt of meddling themselves in having laws passed to have a lot of cushioned seated gentlemen to run over our country to spend the overburdened taxed citizens' money. And it will be a question if some of these persons will know what end of the bee has the stinger. These men are to wear official badges and other insignia of authority. After July 1st it shall not be lawful to keep bees in boxes that have been in use a thousand years, but boxes as will be provided by some firms, which will give the bee doctors a chance to examine the bees in order to see which bees have the bellyache. The act says all other types of boxes after July 1st no difference how good they have been during the past hundreds of years, shall be declared a nuisance and will be seized and destroyed. The act mentions nothing of the great amount this law will cost the state, or the big fat salaries for these bee doctors. Now after January 1st, 1922, comes another law tyrannical as any law. Sixty years ago my father and mother would take us little ones to the creek on the Sabbath afternoon; they read their Bibles and other books; we children would fish and in the evening when the sun was going down kissing the summit of Green Ridge, we all went home with our hearts filled with throbs of joy, and gladness. There is more recreation and solid enjoyment in this than to pay $1.10 license to fish in the public streams, even on a week day. Now with license to fish and to hunt and laws how to kill and when to kill varments and game, and our country overburdened with taxation and fish and game wardens and bee doctors, the average citizen should bow his head in shame. Sixty years ago such pests were unknown in Adams county and our streams were full of fish, and our forests filled with game. And the state spending millions of money of an over-taxed state to breed the fish for our streams, and now they are shipping rabbits over our country, all for sportsmen, at the state's expense. Some years ago in the season, we asked the state officials to let us take a squirrel alive for a pet as we would not kill one for a hundred dollars. No, said the state officials, you must take the squirrel with a gun, fired from the shoulder. Now what difference was there in law, whether we made a pet of a squirrel or killed it? So we say there are too many un-American laws that are breeding contempt for laws. They are the handmaid of tyranny.

MODERN DAY MIRACLES

American Chemists Have Accomplished the Wonders
Which Ancient Chemists Strived for by the Utilization of Coal Tar By-Products

(Told in Eight Sketches)
By JOHN RAYMOND

No. IV THE ALCHEMIST'S DREAM

Through the literature of the ancients runs the absorbing story of the alchemist's patient search for the touchstone which would transform all base metals into pure gold, and the never-ending quest for the elixir which would restore youth to the aged and would cure all human ills. The alchemist, driven from cellar to garret and often put to death, had an elemental knowledge of chemistry and vaguely dreamed that it could be made to perform wonders.

It was Ben Jonson's alchemist, Subtle, back in the early seventeenth century who planned "to change all that is in my house to gold, and early in the morning to send to all the plumbers and pewterers and buy their tin and lead up; and to Louthbury for all the copper." And more than that, by means of this magic elixir, in eight and twenty days he planned to transform an old man of four score into a prattling child.

Certainly, chemistry has not succeeded in performing these marvels. The philosopher's stone still is an unknown quantity to science, buried, perhaps, with the pot of gold at the rainbow's end, and the elixir of youth is as deeply hidden as on that far-off day when De Soto set forth so bravely from Spain to find it in the new world. But chemistry has accomplished wonders by the utilization of coal tar by-products which contribute to every phase of our daily life. Take the fatty glass of the chemist and look into it rather uninteresting substance—coal.

We put a bottle of it over a fire and we see leaving at various times what the chemist calls the Crudes—benzene, toluene, xylene, naphthalene, phenol, anthracene, carbazo, and some others. But these are the most important. Some are clear liquids, some are beautiful crystals, but all are brought out of the black coal tar by the magician's wand, which is simply fractional distillation: that is, catching and condensing the vapors given off at various temperatures.

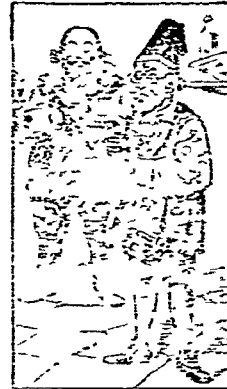

Now, what of the crudes? Add nitric acid, or any one of hundreds of chemicals, and either heat or cool as the case may be, and we get a host of other compounds described as intermediates. Although some of the crudes and many of the intermediates are useful as such, the real development begins with the chemical treatment of the intermediates. With many of these intermediates, one line of treatment will produce drugs, another high explosives, another poison gases, still other perfumes, food flavors and photographic materials. Some have varying peace and war time uses without further treatment. It should be noted that some of these crudes require as many as fifteen manipulations to produce a given compound and in each manipulation a by-product is produced which again must be made into something useful in order to avoid waste.

It is because of this treatment and retreatment of coal, crudes and intermediates that it is so easy to convert a dye plant into a factory for the production of high explosives or poisonous gases almost over night.

Germany was indeed farsighted, back in 1859, when she took advantage of Perkin's discovery, and began the development of a gigantic dye industry so that she might never be without the crudes and intermediates so essential to success in war, or peace.

Germany developed the synthetic dye industry, just as she developed other industries, to create employment and wealth for her millions. But through these developments she learned the value of chemistry, of chemicals, and of chemists themselves. She realized early how dependent her peace development was on chemistry and she soon saw the value of chemical industries to war. Germany saw that the manufacture of dyes required much chemical research and also that dye making made use of the waste products from the coke ovens, themselves a necessity to her iron and steel industry. She saw its value in the production of explosives, gases and fertilizers for her fields. This foresight gave Germany a forty year start on the United States, and the rest of the world.
